29 Spa, Atlanta

Named after the meandering highway that snakes through the verdant vineyards of Napa Valley, Atlanta's eight-month-old 29 Spa at the Mansion on Peachtree hotel pays homage to the antioxidant powers of grapes which, according to founder Lydia Mondavi, are the ultimate scavengers of wrinkle-causing free radicals.

And she should know. Eight years ago Atlanta native Mondavi married into the wine-making dynasty. She then returned to the South and opened 29 Spa at the Rosewood hotel in the city's Buckhead neighborhood.

The treatments use ingredients culled from the family's vineyards as well as organic farms around the world. Vinotherapy services include the Savor the Wine Cabernet Cocoon body treatment ($135-$165), the Cream of the Crop exfoliating facial with crushed grape seeds ($135-$165), and the Trellis the Tresses scalp massage and mask with grape-seed and olive oils ($125).

Created to be a special reserve among Atlanta healing havens, 29 Spa offers amenities like treatment beds complete with custom linens, silk duvets, and heated waterbed tops, as well as a welcome glass of wine or grape-seed tea.

Clients can also imbibe the benefits of the spa's exclusive accessory partnerships. During a manicure, for example, a guest can request that celebrity handbag designer Jada Loveless sketch a personalized handbag. Or, while enjoying a waterless nailcare service, a client can peruse a display wall showcasing the latest Manolo Blahnik collection courtesy of the nearby Neiman Marcus, select a style, and conclude her treatment with the ultimate pairing—perfectly pedicured feet with a sexy set of stilettos, which will be delivered right to her feet by the hotel's butler. 404-995-7529; rwmansiononpeachtree.com —JULIE KELLER
